HEIRWAY GETS BACK TO SCHOOL WITH NEWLY REMODELED FACILITY

Heirway Christian Academy is especially excited about getting back to school this year because of the addition of a newly remodeled middle and high school building. The building has been used for various grade levels throughout the past 23 years, but the new remodel creates an atmosphere they have desired for some time.

Constructed in 1947, the building is one of the oldest in Downtown Douglasville. The strength, stability, and beauty of the original architecture was preserved, but the interior was upgraded with modern touches, bells and whistles. Each classroom is set up with a smart TV and a new iPad for its teacher. This new technology allows teachers to safely instruct students in the classrooms, and to reach students that have chosen distance learning. "The timing of our remodel has afforded us a great advantage to easily reach and serve all students during this pandemic," said Head of School, Tim Thomas. "Starting with a newly remodeled, very clean environment has helped us as we have taken extreme measures for cleaning for Covid."

While the remodel was taking place this past year, the school also decided to get iPads and smart TVs in the original building for elementary teachers as well. Both buildings increased the availability of Chromebooks for students as well as received life safety upgrades for better security. "We are incredibly grateful for this new section of our campus and are already working on other aspects of the school to upgrade as well. We strive to provide a strong education in a safe and encouraging environment," says Thomas.
